

Milton's Suitcase Adventure

written by Diane Distefano

illustrated by
Manny Pantoja

Milton's Suitcase Adventure is a fabulously furry tale about Milton the dog, whose fondness for sleeping in unusual places leads to an unplanned trip very far from home. Milton's epic journey is a playful escape into a world where dogs can speak French, snap selfies, and learn to navigate the Paris Métro.

Along the way, Milton makes new friends, samples the local cuisine, uses his wits to get out of trouble, and learns that exploring the unfamiliar can be fun. After all, trying new things is often the very best part of life!

Diane Distefano is an award-winning journalist and writer at the University of California San Diego. A mother of two and proud nana to Ava and Alice, the California native loves to travel and garden. Milton is based on her snoozy, curious, snaggle-toothed rescue of the same name.

Manny Pantoja is an illustrator, painter, and graphic designer. His love of art and sense of wanderlust has taken him all over the world. Manny resides in California where he enjoys plein air painting and urban adventuring.
